

ABSTRACT

A burglary prevention device is in the form of a T-shaped metal plate having a major portion with a plurality of holes and a minor portion constituting a tang. The device can be installed in any doorway in which a deadbolt is used. It is installed so that the tang of the device is fitted into the latchbolt hole into which the deadbolt fits in the locked position and is positioned immediately in front of the deadbolt.